

Rebels Capture 3 Ships With 3,000 Refugees Fleeing Basque Bilbao

Many of Captives, Report from France Relates, Were Children
Crying for Food—Described as in Pitiful Condition.

GAUNT AND SICK

Insurgents Say Thousands of Their Troops Climbing Hills to Take Basque Capital.

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish frontier, June 17 (AP).—Insurgents reported today their ships blockading Bilbao had captured three government shiploads of 3,000 refugees fleeing the besieged Basque capital, many of them children "crying for something to eat."

The insurgent besiegers, with their armies reported to have effected the crossing of the river Nervion at two places in their drive to bottle up Bilbao, said the three ships were taken when they attempted to slip out of the mouth of the Nervion into the Bay of Biscay.

The refugees, mostly women and children, were described as being "in a pitiful condition."

Five ships, the insurgents said, attempted to run the blockade but were unable to leave the estuary because of the close cordon Generalissimo Francisco Franco has drawn about the long beleaguered city.

Two of the vessels gave up the attempt to reach a haven at Santander to the west and turned back, but the insurgent warships were said to have captured the other three and taken them to Pasajes.

"They were gaunt and many of them sick," the insurgents said of the refugees.

As the Spanish civil war ended its tenth month, insurgents declared the battle for the important northern industrial city had entered its "decisive phase" with the crossing of the Nervion river both north and south of the city.

They declared, however, that the city's capture within the day must not be expected.

"It takes time to occupy a city of 200,000 inhabitants, surrounded by mountains which form natural defenses," they declared. "The insurgent general staff is satisfied, for the moment, to hold Bilbao in a pincer."

Border dispatches from both government and insurgent sources indicated Generalissimo Francisco Franco's crack Legionnaires were storming the dominant heights west of the battered city.

The movement was likened to the closing of the two claws of a pincer to place the rich Bay of Biscay port within the insurgent grasp.

One column, after taking Las Arenas, where Bilbao's river Nervion enters the sea, was said to have forced its way across the broad estuary northwest of the city. Artillery, rifle, and machine gun fire roared throughout the night along both sides of the river highway.

South of the city, the second main column moved northward on the highway from Amurrio, after taking the village of Arrigorriaga, five miles from Bilbao on the west bank of the Nervion.

The eastern heights overlooking Bilbao and the coastal plain stretching northward to the Bay of Biscay were already in the hands of the insurgents.

The northern column finished the clean sweep of the area east of the estuary before taking Las Arenas. The villages of Algorta, Lejona, and Lujua were taken in rapid order after a Basque battery at Punta de La Gatea, near Sopelana, was silenced.

With Insurgents

With Insurgents at the edge of Bilbao, June 17 (AP).—Thousands of insurgent fighting men began today to ascend the last two hills at the western edge of Bilbao, aiming at both final encirclement of the Basque capital and a new offensive on Santander, to the west.

They were closing the last gaps in their plan of encirclement, so they can walk into trembling Bilbao without even fighting for an actual entrance.

The international airfield at the edge of Bilbao was occupied. Big holes had been blown in the stubble surface, but part of the field still was smooth enough for planes to land.

The weather was splendid and thousands were on the march. By nightfall, it seemed, the insurgents will have forced their own front ring around Bilbao—they already have smashed the Basques' "iron ring" of forts east of the city—and will be ready for the occupation and for a new offensive westward.

It was possible the march toward Santander, 45 miles from Bilbao, would begin with the dusk.

Mrs. Hauptmann in Germany.

Bremen, Germany, June 17 (AP).—Mrs. Bruno Hauptmann, widow of the man executed for the kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., arrived here today from New York to visit her parents at Markgroeningen, near Stuttgart. She said she would return to the United States and resume her efforts, with the aid of German friends, to show that her husband was not guilty of the crime for which he was electrocuted.

GIVES NEW ANGLE ON PARSONS DISAPPEARANCE

George Winfield (left), Stony Brook, N. Y., Negro garbage collector, said he was told not to enter the cellar at the home of the missing Mrs. Alice Parsons when he called there the day she disappeared. Department of Justice agents questioned Winfield, his employer, Arnold Cox (right) and Alvin Chadwick (center), who drove the truck on which he was working.

People Will Rest Today In Case against Brown

Authorities Differ On Theories About Mrs. Parsons' Case

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 17 (AP).

Sharply growing differences of opinion between the federal men and Suffolk county authorities investigating the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, Long Island society woman, was evidenced today as the government agents pursued a kidnapping theory, the others expressing the belief she was slain.

A Suffolk county official, who asked that his name be withheld, said the county and state authorities and the agents of the federal bureau of investigation were reaching a climax in their relations.

"The federal men think it is a kidnapping," he said. "We think it is murder, and we are ready to proceed on that theory and to act quickly. There seems to be evidence enough to make it possible to present the case to a grand jury."

This official said robbery did not appear to be the motive, so far as the local men could determine, but declined to comment further along this line.

Even while this official was talking, however, reports were growing that the federal agents, still clinging to the kidnapping theory, had established secret headquarters 20 miles away from the trim little white farm house from which Mrs. Parsons vanished eight days ago.

And still another report had it that a person who represented himself as the kidnaper communicated with the Parsons family promising to return the 38-year-old missing woman if the $25,000 ransom, originally demanded in a note, were paid and immunity from police intervention guaranteed.

Neither of these reports could be confirmed at once, since Earl J. Connelley, inspector in charge of the Federal men, and Rhea Whitley, head of the New York office who has been working with him, left here yesterday on some undisclosed mission and were still absent today.

Their absence, however, did not hold up the search of the woods which has been going on since Monday.

Some of the searchers directed their attention to a spot about 2,000 yards from the house where an odor, indicating the presence of a body, was detected.

The odor was discovered last night after dark, but investigation was deferred until today. Lieut. Stacey Wilson of the Brookhaven police said the odor was "unmistakably that of a body," but added that the body might be that of an animal.

Published reports of contacts having been made with kidnappers remained unverified. Federal men then traced the $25,000 ransom note paper to a five and ten cent store in nearby Patchogue, but questioning of a clerk produced nothing. Shown photographs of Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Anna Kuryanova, and her 11-year-old son Ray, who live with the Parsons family, salesgirl Mildred Maller said she did not recall ever having seen any of them.

The case of The People vs. Charles

James Brown, a charge of murder, first degree, for the alleged killing of Isidore Handelman at Ellenville on April 8, last, was practically completed at noon today so far as proof of The People was concerned. When court recessed at 12:45 o'clock all that remained for the prosecution was to read two alleged confessions which Brown made the day of his arrest. These two instruments were in evidence and will be read to the jury at the opening of court at 2:30.

Prior to adjournment County Judge Traver asked District Attorney Cleon B. Murray to make a statement as to the theory under which the case would be submitted the jury, whether it was contended that the murder of Isidore Handelman and a first degree murder by reason of premeditation or whether The People were proceeding under the theory of a "felony murder," a murder which becomes a first degree murder because the defendant at the time of the commission of the murder was engaged in the act of committing another felony.

Mr. Murray replied that he was proceeding under the "felony murder" provision of the law which contemplates a first degree murder charge where a defendant kills another while engaged in the commission of another felony.

Judge Traver then said he would submit the case to the jury under that theory, that the crime was committed while the felony, to wit, robbery, first degree, of grand larceny, first degree, was being committed.

Sheriff on Stand

Sheriff Molyneux was the first witness at the morning session. He told of taking Brown from Goshen to Ellenville on the day Brown surrendered to the Orange county authorities. On the way to Ellenville, Mr. Molyneux said he and Sergeant Hopkins of the State Police told Brown that any statement he made to them could be used against him.

On the trip and during the afternoon in Mr. Murray's office in Ellenville Brown seemed calm and talked freely of the crime.

Asked if he killed Handelman, Sheriff Molyneux said the defendant replied as they rode along, "Yes, and I want to burn tonight and have it over with."

Mr. Molyneux told of Brown signing two papers, alleged confessions, during the afternoon.

"These statements were taken

Protection is Aim of Tax Dodging Inquiry

Washington, June 17 (AP).—Congressional investigators, assembling today for what may be a sensation-filled inquiry into tax-dodging, said their purpose was not "persecution" of individuals but protection of government revenue.

That assurance came from Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the Senate-House investigating committee, who added:

"It is an investigation to try to get facts and information on which to base amendments to the law, so that people will pay the taxes they should pay."

With President Roosevelt's backing, the committee arranged for full publicity on the names and methods of any wealthy individuals who may have avoided tax payments.

Secretary Morgenthau was called as the first witness to submit evidence, including names, already uncovered by the Treasury.

Stranger Sampled Blackberry Cordial Intended for Mother

Said He Has Heard His Mother Was Ill and Was Taking Her the Cordial to Strengthen Her — Other Cases Before Culliton in Court Here.

As Officer Joseph Fallon was patrolling North Front street Wednesday afternoon he was somewhat startled to see a man in his bare feet and carrying a large suitcase jumping up and down on the sidewalk. He accosted the stranger, who said his name was Andrew Geringer, and that he was on his way to Saugerties where his mother was reported ill.

Geringer had a large bottle said to contain blackberry cordial which he had purchased for his mother's use, but he had sampled the cordial with the result that he had become lost in the woods for 15 hours and although he had four pairs of shoes in his suitcase he was walking barefoot through the city. The rays of the sun had warmed the sidewalk to such an extent that he was stepping high and wide to keep his feet from getting toasted.

The officer placed Geringer under arrest on a vagrancy charge. This morning in police court Geringer was

Publicity Called Remedy for the Tax-Dodgers Says Secretary Morgenthau Before Joint Committee

Washington, June 17 (AP).—Secretary Morgenthau told a congressional inquiry committee today he hoped that "continued publicity" on methods of alleged tax evasion and tax avoidance would help to stop tax dodging.

Morgenthau, first witness at the joint senate-house investigation into evasion and avoidance, asserted that "a variety of devices to avoid taxes" have been used in recent years. "The situation calls for remedial legislation," he said.

Morgenthau's statement contained no names of asserted tax evaders or tax avoiders.

Treasury officials, however, reported that a list of names has been compiled for later submission to the joint committee.

In a statement read to the committee, Morgenthau struck repeatedly at rich taxpayers who he said employ "expensive attorneys" to avoid taxes.

The secretary expressed concern over what he termed an attitude of many that tax avoidance is "a legitimate and honorable aim."

"Nevertheless," he continued, "I am hopeful that the continued publicity which hearings of this sort give with respect to the game of tax avoidance may help to create an atmosphere in which men will hesitate to use these artificial devices to avoid the payment of taxes just as today they hesitate to use such devices to escape the payment of private debts."

The treasury chief traced various methods of tax evasion, re-outlining devices described in President Roosevelt's recent message to Congress on evasion and avoidance.

Morgenthau, who made the preliminary tax survey on which Mr. Roosevelt's message was based, told the committee that one of the chief tax avoidance devices "is the creation of a multiple personality in the taxpayer."

"By this device," the secretary continued, "he ceases to be a single individual and becomes a whole group of people, some of whom are earning money while others are losing it."

Predict Gala Days as Port Ewen Plans for Volunteer Firemen

Arrangements to entertain the delegates and fire companies planning to attend the second annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Port Ewen July 23 and 24, were thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the general committee in charge at the fire house in Port Ewen last night.

Under the direction of General Chairman Roscoe V. Elsworth, the various committee heads reported progress towards making the second convocation of the Ulster county firemen an outstanding success. It will be recalled that the first convention was held in Kingston last year. Every committee chairman was present at the evening meeting last evening and it developed that plans are being worked out to handle the delegates and visitors in splendid fashion.

By virtue of planning for the affair since last year, the finance committee under the direction of William C. Buddenhagen will be in a position to take care of the requirements in that direction. The decorations committee with Fire Chief Edward Maine at the head have plans to dress the village streets up in a fashion that will be outstanding. Major O. R. Hillebrand in charge of parade arrangements is working out the details to the final degree. Major Hillebrand's experience in this direction has been very extensive and this year's parade should be one of the finest.

Plans for Ladies.

Mrs. John Reynolds, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Department, has charge of visiting ladies entertainment and reported progress towards plans to entertain the lady visitors. William Clark heads up the entertainment committee, which will entertain the visiting delegates at a big get-together at Spinnys after the business meeting on the evening of July 23. Arrangements are also being made to take care of the visiting firemen on the day of the big parade, Saturday, July 24.

Realizing that with the crowds expected to attend, the general committee is planning for adequate parking, policing, housing, and first aid. Capt. Charles N. Behrens has charge of the parking and policing with Frank P. Scout Troop No. 26, having his organization prepared to render first aid. John Reynolds will head up the committee in charge of housing and has already made a canvass of the village to ascertain the number that can be accommodated.

Big Carnival

The big carnival will be staged during the course of the week and should prove an interesting source of entertainment for the visiting firemen. On Saturday night, July 24, the carnival committee, with Supervisor Raymond Howe as chairman, plans to put on a big fireworks display at the carnival grounds on the commons. The advertising and publicity committee is headed up by P. J. Beichert.

Each member of the committees is working diligently to make this convention, the first one of any size to be staged in Port Ewen, an outstanding success. The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, while only organized a few years, is becoming one of the most enthusiastic groups of volunteer firemen in the state. John T. Groves of Port Ewen is the president of the organization and under his leadership, the association has gained in membership so that today there are some 30 odd member companies.

Civil Service Group Opens Convention Here

The Civil Service Association of the state of New York will open a three days' convention in Kingston on Friday, and the first group of delegates is expected to arrive at noon that day over the West Shore Railroad from New York city. They will make the trip here by special convention train. Other delegates will arrive by bus, private car and boat.

The executive committee will meet in the Governor Clinton Hotel, headquarters for the convention, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the business sessions of the convention will be held all day Saturday in the Municipal Auditorium.

It is expected that the convention will bring fully 700 delegates and their families to Kingston.

This is the third year that the convention has been held in Kingston.

Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Asst. Secretary E. F. Mc Grady Constitute Group to Act as "Voluntary Arbitrator."

AT CLEVELAND

Will Begin Work in Ohio as Soon as McGrady Returns from Europe.

Washington, June 17 (AP).—Secretary Perkins announced today appointment of a three-man board to mediate all current steel disputes.

She named Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady as a federal steel mediation board authorized to investigate, conduct hearings, make findings of fact and act as "voluntary arbitrator" if both sides in the controversy so request.

Miss Perkins said the board would set up headquarters at Cleveland immediately.

She said McGrady, who is returning from Europe, would arrive in the United States Saturday night.

The secretary said she had been in communication with Taft and Garrison and that they would start work at once.

She said President Roosevelt had given his approval to her executive order creating the board.

"I discussed the matter with President Roosevelt Monday and at that time he agreed if no settlement was reached before we came to this, it should be done," the secretary said.

The secretary's administrative order declared "an emergency has arisen as a result of the labor dispute in the steel industry which tends to obstruct and interrupt the free flow of raw materials, semi-finished and finished steel products in interstate commerce."

"It is desirable," the order said, "to provide an additional means of accomplishing a reasonable solution to this controversy."

The secretary said "in my judgment the interests of industrial peace require" that the board be created. She said this action had been delayed because the administration had hoped that conferences called by Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio might produce an agreement which would lead to settlement of the strike.

(By The Associated Press)

Johnstown, Pa., June 17.—An undetermined number of steel workers returned to work today in the embattled Cambria plants of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. There were no disorders.

Non-strikers slipped into the huge works as Washington pondered appeals to intervene in the labor controversy, which has made 100,000 idle in a strike called by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee to enforce demands for signed contracts covering wages, hours and working conditions.

The strike is directed against the Republic Steel Corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., Inland Steel, and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Before President Roosevelt today were appeals from Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown, and Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio, who failed to bring the union and corporations together.

"The matter has gone way beyond the powers and opportunities of one state to deal with it," Gov. Martin telegraphed the president.

"Therefore I request you most earnestly to intervene on behalf of the federal government and undertake in such manner as you may deem best to find some basis on which this costly and threatening strike can be settled."

Thus, with a governor, a mayor and a strike leader all petitioning for intervention, the $750,000-a-day strike had twisted itself today into a question mark that pointed toward Washington.

Charge Kidnaping.

Before the President, too, was the appeal of Mayor Daniel Shields of Johnstown, charging that the strikers had resorted "to the most dastardly crime" of kidnaping.

Lewis was in Chicago where tonight he is to address a C. I. O. mass meeting; but another C. I. O. chief, Philip Murray, was in Washington with an appeal for federal intervention.

Bethlehem Steel's quick "No" to a C. I. O. proposal for an exclusive bargaining agency vote among the 15,000 workers of its Cambria works in Johnstown, was accompanied by the charge that C. I. O. had brought "disorder and anarchy" to the city.

That there had been violence, none denied. Yesterday's dynamite explosion at a gate of the Cambria works and the subsequent stabbing of two pickets by a negro who said he was the father of 11 children "and had to go to work," attested to that.

The man, Thomas Sims, was held on a charge of disorderly conduct and suspicion. One of the victims of the stabbing, Joseph McHugh—a captain of pickets—lay critically

She swung her brush and Ray was splashed in the face.
A disorderly conduct charge against the woman was dismissed.

DENIES LOW FLYING OVER CITY PROPERTY

June 16, 1937
P. O. Box 852
Kingston, N. Y.

Freeman Gentleman—

In your today's issue I have noticed that an airplane having license No. N. Y. 10122 was flying low over the city and stunning and that it was piloted by Jack Linton. I wish to state I was piloting the plane and at no time was the plane under 1,200 feet and that I was not stunting nor was I over West Chestnut street when I cut the motor, as a matter of fact I was over open fields back of Port Ewen at 1,500 feet. In true fairness to Mr. Linton I'll appreciate it very much if you will correct this statement. Thanking you very much.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, June 17 (AP)—Early mid rallyings efforts met with little success in today's stock market. There was some come-back after a hesitant opening, with steel and motor receiving support. Volume dwindled, though, and around noon traders again turned to the selling side. Conspicuous on the outside were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Sears, Roebuck, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, American Telephone, Ansonia, Kennecott, American Smelting, Texas Corp., Continental Oil, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville, Canada Dry and John-Manville.

N. Y. steam preferred issues took another turn on the upside on Consolidated Edison's revised plan for an exchange of shares between the two companies.

Iowa Students Organize First Group of Pipers

Iowa City, Iowa.—The only college bagpipe unit in the United States has been developed at the University of Iowa by Col. George F. N. Duffey, head of the military department.

With no instructor in bagpipes available in this country, Duffey had to start from scratch in developing his unique unit.

Duffey found an instructor in Toronto, Can., and sent Cloie Myers, Council Bluffs (Iowa) student, to him to learn the technique of the pipes. After five weeks of intense instruction, Myers became so proficient that he was able to instruct five other university students in the art of piping.

First White Settlement Founded in Nova Scotia
Nova Scotia is woven into the history of North America. The first white settlement north of the Gulf of Mexico was established within its borders at Port Royal (now Annapolis Royal) in 1604. The province was, for 150 years, the theater of recurring warfare between British and French forces and the arena where issues of grave importance to future generations of America were decided. There are ruins of old forts and blockhouses everywhere. Two decades of ruthless privateering gave every mile of shore line its record and traditions, notes a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

Nova Scotia is a place where beauty has had time to grow, where memories have gathered, giving depth and meaning to the lives of its people. The races that settled the province have preserved many of their national traits down the centuries. The Acadians have preserved the habits of their French ancestors and are a contact with the long ago. The Hanoverians are a typical seafaring folk, industrious, rugged and wholesome. The Highland Scotch, cherishing the Gaelic of their forefathers, are a warm-hearted, hospitable and self-mastered people. The English Nova Scotians are quietly friendly.

The original inhabitants, Micmac Indians, are a colorful folk on their reservations. Each year, on St. Ann's day, they have an annual gathering at Mission Island in Cape Breton when a special procession and services are held.

World's Exposition Matinee Saturday

Saturday at 1 p. m. the World's Exposition Shows will hold a matinee for the benefit of the children of the community on the Powell grounds, near the airport, where they are exhibiting all this week under the auspices of the Excelsior Horse Company.

The children along with the orphans from the Sacred Heart orphanage will be guests of the management and there will be no gate admission charged them. In addition they will be able to ride any ride or see any show for a minimum price of five cents up to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. they will be given free rides on the merry-go-round.

Parents and those with young children in charge will thus have an opportunity of seeing the shows during daylight hours and at little expense, and later in the evening they will have the same opportunity in any way they desire.

The big flying act, the Unique Flying Quartet, will give their exhibition of thrills during the afternoon and everything will be done to make the visit of the children and orphans as enjoyable as possible. There will be a number of guards appointed by the horse company and the show executive to see that the youngsters are kept out of danger and Dr. John Fisher and his nurse will do everything to keep them out of harm during their stay on the show grounds.

Way to Kill Snakes

The elder Pliny wrote that snakes, if spit upon, flee, and that human saliva injected into their mouths kills them. In her memoirs, Madame Junot, wife of one of Napoleon's generals, writes that, when Napoleon was in Cairo, Egypt, he was greatly alarmed by a serpent seen in the house. A native "snake-detector" sent for, soon found the reptile's hiding place and by music and charms induced it to come to the center of the room. There the charmer suddenly seized it just behind the head, forced its jaws open and spat down its throat. Instantly, the Duchess wrote, the snake gave every evidence of death.

Early Military Architecture

El Morro, historic fortress built upon the solid rock at the entrance to San Juan harbor, is one of the finest examples of early military architecture to be found anywhere in the world. It rises, a man-made precipice of solid masonry from the water's edge to command not only the harbor entrance, but the entire site of Puerto Rico's capital city and the many miles of tropical suburbs to the east.

Dating Bureau for Girls In Training School Makes Angels of Inmates, Report

Tecumseh, Okla., June 17 (AP)—A dating bureau at the Oklahoma Training School for Girls was promised today and the prospect of nights out with their boy friends had 240 inmates on their best behavior.

A plan of Mrs. Creighton Burnham, superintendent, approved by the state board of affairs, is this: Thirty of the more eligible young girls with exceptional records will move into a trim cottage set apart from the rest and the superintendent will arrange dates with nice young men.

"Already," said Mrs. Burnham, "the idea is providing incentive for better behavior. Why some of our most incorrigible girls have decided they want to be 'angels.'"

Mrs. Burnham said she would hand-pick the girls mostly from the ages of 16 and 17. She said she had "just as pretty girls as I've seen anywhere."

One young woman, intent on being among the first into the parlor said he had always been an admirer of one of the girls.

"It looks like matrimony," the superintendent said.

And what if love and mayhap matrimony should enter the cottage?

Mrs. Burnham wasn't certain, but she indicated she might release the bride-to-be. Girls are committed here until they are 18 or are dismissed by the superintendent.

The school is operated by the state and is in effect a girl's reformatory. The inmates are committed by the courts for various forms of delinquency.

Color of Eyes, Sunsets,

Due to Scattering Light
Blue eyes are not really blue, nor red sunsets really red.

The apparent color is due to the scattering of light when the photons hit against extremely minute particles. It takes place only when the diameter of the obscuring particles is small in comparison to the wavelength of the light. For this reason light in the blue end of the spectrum is scattered more than light in the red end, asserts a writer in the Washington Star.

This principle was worked out more than a half century ago by the English physicist, Lord Rayleigh.

Thus the sun appears red when viewed through a thick smoke fog, but white through a fog in the country consisting of water droplets. Water drops are too large to produce true scattering. Their action is in the nature of diffraction and reflection, which is almost equally effective for all wave lengths. Hence water drops appear white, whether viewed by reflected or direct solar radiation.

Other examples of structural colors, which are produced by scattering phenomena are the red color of the sunset, the colors of bird feathers, the blue color of the sky, or of skimmed milk. This blue is now known as Tyndall blue. There is no blue pigment in blue eyes and it was pointed out by the English physicist Tyndall years ago that the blue of the eye is really the blue of turbid media and is analogous to the blue of the sky or the blue of skimmed milk.

Attend Mass Funeral

Wilhelmshaven, Germany, June 17 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, Marshal Werner von Blomberg, Minister of War, and other cabinet ministers attended the military funeral today of 31 German sailors who died in the Spanish government bombing of the Reich's pocket battleship Deutschland. As each name was called drummers beat a solemn roll and marines fired a salute of honor.

Traver Admits Gear As Evidence In Brown Trial; Leading Expert, Dr. Kirschberg, Tells of Studies

Over the objection of defense counsel, County Judge Frederick G. Traver, Wednesday afternoon admitted in evidence the piece of pinion gear with which it is alleged Charles James Brown, Ellenville negro truckman, used to attack Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Handelman on April 8, the day on which they met their death in their Pine street home, Ellenville, where their partially cremated bodies were later found by firemen who were summoned to extinguish a fire in their bedroom.

Brown, on trial for the crime is charged with killing the aged couple when he went to the home of the aged junkman for the purpose of robbery.

One of the chief objections to the admission of the pinion gear in evidence was the fact that attached to it was a tag upon which Brown allegedly wrote a confession. J. Edward Conway and Robert G. Groves, defense counsel, objected to the offering of the gear and also to the attached tag on the grounds that the tag was a partial confession and was not proper evidence.

Aid to Identification.
Judge Traver admitted the pinion gear and its damaging tag on the grounds that the tag was a part of the exhibit and went toward the matter of identification.

"This is the shaft I killed Mr. and Mrs. Handelman with," Charles James Brown, reads the wording on the tag and it was stated by several witnesses that the handwriting on the tag was that of Brown who wrote the tag in the office of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray on April 15, the day he was arrested and charged with the crime.

When Judge Traver recessed the court until this morning Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux was on the stand. Just prior to adjournment two papers, alleged statements or confessions made by Brown, had been shown the sheriff for identification and the court recessed until this morning in order to give the defense counsel an opportunity to examine the papers over the recess period and summon any witnesses they desired for cross-examination or questioning as to whether the signatures to the confessions had been gained through threats, promises or other means.

B. C. I. Official Testifies.
One of the most interesting and apparently best qualified experts who has ever taken the witness chair in Ulster county in many years was Dr. Bradley H. Kirschberg of Schenectady, Director of Scientific Laboratory of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the New York State Troopers. Dr. Bradley has been consulting chemist for the department since 1921, chief consulting chemist for the State Troopers since 1933 and since the establishment of the B. C. I., has been chief and director of the laboratory. He is instructor at the New York State Police School in chemistry, explosive and kindred subjects and is in charge of the police education branch of the Mayors Conference of the state.

He and the late Dr. Steinmetz, famous as the master-mind of General Electric engineering and invention, conducted a private laboratory in Schenectady and Dr. Kirschberg has also been connected with the United States Secret Service, U. S. Army and other state and federal branches of government as an expert on chemistry as related to those departments. He is a graduate of several foreign institutions and had been connected with numerous European laboratories prior to coming to the United States and taking up the subject of crime detection through laboratory study. For 25 years he has made a study of bloodstains and the expert manner in which he attacked the questions put to him Wednesday in the Brown case indicated his experience in criminal matters was most extensive.

Study of Blood, Flesh, Hair.
After stating his qualifications and answering preliminary questions, Dr. Kirschberg testified he had made a study of the samples of blood submitted to him as taken from the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Handelman and had classified the blood. Both was Type E. He also examined matters taken from the pinion gear which was sent him and found the gear contained human blood, pieces of flesh and bone and also contained three small pieces of hair. Two of these hairs he was able to say were human hairs, the third he was unable to place definitely, due to its condition.

The two pieces of hair were gray and were from a human being. One was a half inch long and one about a third of an inch long. He also testified that blood on the linoleum from the floor of the Handelman house was human blood.

Porter: "Ellenville Excited"
The afternoon session was opened with Chief of Police Richard A. Porter of Ellenville on the stand. About 6 o'clock on April 8 he learned of the Handelman matter and went to the home of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and called him and they went together to the scene. He told of finding the false teeth which have been identified as Handelman's in the kitchen. The teeth were offered in evidence by The People and were objected to, but Judge Traver admitted them on the question of identity.

Porter said that when Brown was brought to Ellenville there was a large crowd in the streets in front of Mr. Murray's office and particular police protection was given Brown as excitement ran high in the village. Several officers always had been present in the room with Brown while he remained in the village.

Chief Porter said Brown had signed the tag which was attached to the pinion gear in the presence of several others and three officers signed the tag as witnesses. Inspector Ernest A. Maynard, Trooper W. H. Reynolds and Chief Porter signed as witnesses to Brown's signature. They signed after Brown had signed his name.

Inspector Maynard on Stand.
Inspector Maynard called. He said he was chief of the B. C. I. of Troop C. He testified he has removed linoleum from the Handelman floor and delivered it to Trooper Dalrymple, who delivered it to Schenectady. He said he saw Brown sign the tag attached to the gear. Inspector Maynard said no one dictated the wording on the tag to Brown; he wrote it himself and signed it and then the three witnesses signed.

Before any writing had been placed on the tag Inspector Maynard said he attached the tag, placed a seal on the tag so it could not be tampered with and then the writing was made.

Trooper's Testimony.
Next William H. Reynolds, Ellenville Trooper, was called. He told of receiving two bottles of red fluid from Dr. Colos and delivering them to Trooper Dalrymple for delivery to Schenectady. He said when he got to the spot where the pinion gear had been found on the McDole premises, the gear had been removed but Officer Frank Groppe indicated where the gear was found and Reynolds drove in a stake to identify the spot before a picture was taken. Reynolds said he had witnessed Brown sign the tag on April 15 after it had been attached to the gear.

The gear and tag were offered by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and were objected to. Mr. Murray said the tag could not well be removed from the gear since the tag referred to the gear and went to the identification of the gear. The court admitted the gear and tag after defense counsel declined an offer to be permitted to call and examine any witness relative to the inscription on the tag and how the signature of Brown was attached and under what circumstances.

Read to Jury

At this point the wording on the tag attached to the gear was read to the jury. Judge Traver instructed the jury not to consider any reference to Mrs. Handelman made in the writing as that matter was not before this jury.

On cross examination Dr. Kirschberg said that his tests for blood were based on standard methods and the serum used in the test was received from the New York State Department of Health. An error in making the serum might cause a test to become useless but he said before testing the blood on the gear he had first extracted his own blood, which he knew to be human blood, and when this blood taken from himself proved positive under the action of the serum, he concluded the serum was good; and when he secured a positive result on testing the blood taken from the gear he knew it was human blood on the gear, because it reacted as did his own blood.

As to the bony substance found on the gear he said he could not say it was human bone.

Motions to stroke out Dr. Kirschberg's testimony were denied.

Molyneux Called

Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux was then called and said he had assisted in the investigation of the Handelman crime. On April 15 he had gone to Goshen to get Brown after he had been arrested there and he, with Sergeant Hopkins, brought Brown to the district attorney's office in Ellenville and later to jail.

Later at the Handelman home he and Inspector Maynard were examining the premises and in moving a large wardrobe it tipped and a ring fell to the floor. The ring was the one which had been shown previously and was partially burned. It had been identified as the ring of Handelman, which he wore. Sheriff Molyneux said the ring had fallen from the top of a wardrobe in the living room of the Handelman house which stood directly under the Handelman bedroom and under where a portion of the bedroom floor had been burned away. The ring evidently dropped through this section to the top of the wardrobe.

Read Papers, Signed

Sheriff Molyneux said he and Sergeant Hopkins talked to Brown on the way from Goshen to Ellenville on April 15. He was shown two papers for identification, alleged to be confessions, and said Brown had signed them.

"Did Brown read these papers or were they read to him before he signed them?" asked Mr. Murray.

"Brown read them aloud to himself before he signed them," said the sheriff. The papers were witnessed by Sheriff Molyneux, Sergeant Hopkins, Inspector Maynard and Beatrice Weinberger.

At this point court recessed in order to give the defense counsel an opportunity to cross examine the sheriff or call other witnesses for examination before making objection to the offer.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock today.

HIGHLAND COMMISSION ADJOURNS TO JULY 8

The Highland road condemnation commission on Wednesday completed taking testimony in the claim of Maude Tallman for damages to her property in Highland. The commission then adjourned to July 8.

The commission has a couple of more claims to hear on the northern end of the new road alignment and presumably will clear them up during the July hearings. Later it will take up hearings on some 20 claims by property owners from Main street, Highland, down to the neighborhood of the bridge over the Hudson.

The car was badly damaged. The police department notified the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company, who sent a repair crew to repair the damage to the wires.

Hippocrates Separated Medicine From Religion

The history of medicine is as old as man himself.

Primitive man had diseases, more than we have, declares a writer in the Washington Post. When his puny efforts to conquer them failed, he conceived the notion that they were curses from his gods.

That idea hung on for centuries. Ancient doctors used some drugs, but prayer and sacrifices in temples of healing were mainly relied on. It was a Greek, Hippocrates, who separated medicine from religion.

He inaugurated the practice of studying diseases and diagnosing ills. Because of his high ideals he has fittingly been dubbed "The Father of Medicine." The "Oath of Hippocrates" is taken by every medical student.

Next to Hippocrates, Galen, a Roman, was the greatest of the ancients. He studied the body, reported the functions of its various parts. His ideas lived, and kept medicine alive for some 800 years after his death.

When the revival of medicine came in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, it was the teachings of Galen that doctors used as a jumping-off place.

Government agriculture experts say corn grows best on slightly acid and neutral soils.

SCARECROW FOR SCABS

The ominous atmosphere of the strike situation in Johnstown, Pa., is tense, and serious strife is evident. Here a charred automobile is exhibited on the streets with the pointed label, "A Scab's Car, You Might Be Next."

87 'Phone Girls End Warren Strike

Warren, O., June 17 (AP)—Telephone girls jangled again today as 87 operators called off their strike, went back to their switchboards here with pay raises and began to ask for your numbers—and more nickels.

For eight hours yesterday the operators, demanding wage increases totalling $24,000 a year, paraded in a jocular mood in front of the Warren Telephone Co. building while some 10,500 receivers hung lifeless on their hooks.

The mayor, the dog catcher and the grocer spent a day almost entirely free of telephone calls. Merchants couldn't tell how much business they missed, but Ralph Mateer, manager of the telephone company, estimated that the firm lost 35,000 calls of one kind or another.

The Chamber of Commerce took a hand in the negotiations.

The operators, members of the Electrical Workers' Union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, asked increases totalling $24,000 a year. The compromise, reached last evening during what normally is the crush hour of date-making, provided increases totalling $12,000, retroactive to June 1.

The girls set up one of the handsomest picket lines seen in Warren in many a day. After the first breathless moments the operators, dressed in gay colors, settled down to an easy routine. Chairs were brought up and they leaned against the wall of the building. Across the street members of the city fire department enjoying an unexpected treat, kept a close eye on the proceedings.

When it was all over and the girls picked up their chairs and returned to the switchboards, the firemen looked at the usual blank wall for a while and then went inside.

Mortgage Plan Was Born in Seventeenth Century

The mortgage is evolved from the Seventeenth century when a written document first became obligatory in a property transaction.

Before that time all lands were believed rightfully to belong to the king, who gave them to the lords with certain incidental obligations. These lords, in turn, parceled out the land to the tenants for other obligations. When a lord transferred property to another nobleman, much pomp and ceremony was connected with the transaction, but there was no written document.

Existing laws require no set pattern in a mortgage, but certain provisions are demanded, notes the Philadelphia Enquirer. The document must describe the parties with reasonable accuracy, and such parties must be qualified to make the contract. The premises must be described with equal accuracy, and the nature and limits of the estate conveyed must be made clear. The debt must also be cited.

Young Fawn Being Fed from a Bottle

A young fawn has been presented to the city zoo in Forsyth Park by the state conservation commission. The fawn is about a month old, and is furnishing a job to Bill Whittaker and Elmer Van Gaasbeck, who are kept busy feeding the young deer from a bottle.

The fawn, which has not been named yet, is too young to be placed on public view, and will make his debut later when he is somewhat older.

Visitors at the park who may think of an appropriate name for the fawn should make their suggestions to Bill and Elmer at the park.

V. F. W. at Saranac

Saranac Lake, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The New York State Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was asked today to back a fight for general pensions for war veterans. Herman Latourette, commander of the Comrade Post of New York city, presented the proposal to the resolutions committee and declared that, in the event it is defeated, a minority report will be taken to the convention floor. In a statement outlining his views, Latourette said that industry already is discarding men of 40 years of age and added that the average age of veterans is 43. "If industry will not employ veterans," he declared, "it should be taxed for their support."

Home Institute YOU CAN'T GO TO COLLEGE?

Build Your Own Background of Culture

Not enough money to fulfill your dream of going to college? This is no tragedy. Today radio, movies, newspapers, inexpensive books help you to a cultural background.

Even a walk down the street can lay the foundation of culture. You see the bank's fluted columns. They're Ionic style, designed for the ancient Greek temples. So you're introduced to the myths about the Greek gods. These give you the classical background to enjoy novels and poems. For even modern authors refer to Greek myths.

Find out about the church spire, too. It's adapted from the ancient tower used to watch enemies. This suggests a study of old time fighting customs and famous battles, which are the backbone of early history.

A popular movie shows an Irishman plotting his country's freedom from British rule. That puts you on the trail of the age-long struggle between England and Ireland.

Follow important news stories. Read up on points they bring out. Scan radio broadcasting schedules for round table discussions, forums and educational talks.

Our 40-page booklet, SUPPOSE YOU HAVEN'T GONE TO COLLEGE, tells how to follow the exciting avenues of knowledge that radio, newspapers and movies open up. Planned course of reading to put you on equal footing culturally with college people.

Dunbar Talks on Youth Guidance Before Rotorians

The importance of a guidance program for youth was discussed before the local Rotary Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday noon by Henry F. Dunbar, guidance counselor for Kingston High School. The text of the speaker's talk was as follows:

What is the purpose of an educational program?

To provide a way for the young person to prepare for life.

What does this life consist of for which our educational program is to prepare?

In answering this question I offer the following as important: Economic life. Earning a living. Home life. Getting on with others in the same house. Choosing a mate. Raising a family. Physical life. Health, food, sleep, clothing, etc. Social life. Parties, clubs, friends, manners, personality, culture, etc. Emotional life. Self control, poise, courage, etc. Vocational life. Hobbies, varied satisfactions.

Let us analyze these phases of life and ask ourselves if our educational program provides adequately for the business of living in these selected fields.

Economic life. The conventional curriculum provides us with knowledge and skill to enter various vocations but often omits important factors for success on the job. For instance a well trained sanitary engineer, graduate of M. I. T., after arriving at the position of chief sanitary engineer of one of our eastern states was successively dropped from a series of jobs until he arrived at a $600 a year job. His education had not impressed him with the importance of cooperation, tact and emotional control.

Please supply your own illustration of men who have become attached to occupations for which they were eminently unfitted, and others where a person of marked ability has never had a chance to make use of his outstanding talent.

Home Life. To what extent does an adjusted home life determine our happiness? Does our school program do all that can be done to safeguard future citizens against the misery of quarrels, divorce, or failure in bringing up children? Shouldn't the school try to effect the ideals and attitudes back of domestic relationships?

Physical Life. The state law requires that we give instruction in health and hygiene and that we maintain an active program of physical education. But all this does not prevent children in Kingston from going through 12 years of school with enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids, nor does it prevent young men and women from choosing occupations in which they are destined to fall because of physical handicaps. For illustration a boy who was lame from infantile paralysis wanted to become a dentist and thus stand up long hours and a girl with bad eyesight insisted on librarian work.

Social life. How much does adult happiness depend upon choice of friends, parties, clubs? How much is our relationship with others affected by clothing and manners? How much does our social success depend on personality culture? In preparation for a complicated social life all young folks need sympathetic guidance on such points. The home cannot always provide for it. The most satisfying reward of my professional career is the thanks I get from girls and boys whom I have been able to help in social adjustment.

Emotional Life. All school activities are designed to cultivate poise and self control, and are effective in proportion to the extent to which the pupil cooperates. One great emotional handicap that hundreds of our boys and girls suffer from is the inferiority complex. In the rush of a heavy teaching load most of us teachers have little time to recognize it and give it the sympathetic and understanding treatment that it should have.

Vocational Life. The leisure time of people presents a varied problem. I picture a poor laborer spending it sitting for hours on his doorstep; the energetic and undirected youth using it getting into trouble; the society matron spending it in a ceaseless round of parties. And you and I know that vocational guidance could point out to them more enjoyable means of utilizing this leisure time. However, an analysis of individual interests and urges should precede any suggestions as to what type of leisure time activity might be most rewarding to any given person.

The above analysis has been an attempt to point out that there are many pressing needs in the adjustment of the individual to a complicated life which are inadequately provided for in our educational program. I am aware of omitting important phases of living, such as the intellectual and the religious, but I shall leave the former to the classroom teacher and the latter to the church.

Guidance started in 1908 when a definite program of vocational placement was established in Boston. Soon it became apparent that proper placement on a job necessitated proper training for the job. Then Vocational Guidance became Vocational and Educational Guidance. Then, as time went on, these other phases of adjustment became understood. The scope of guidance now includes the fields I have indicated. According to the National Vocational Guidance Association an effective Guidance program provides a seven-fold set up:

A study of the individual. This includes intelligence tests, school records, employment experiences, results of personality analyses, interest inventories, health histories gathered and accumulated over the child's whole school life.

A study of occupations. This has recently become compulsory for all H. S. students in the required ninth year social science course. A Guidance department should keep up with the current literature in this field and constantly replenish it. Research on local employment opportunities should be maintained.

Counseling. This may be carried on both in groups and individually. Individual counseling, so far as my experience goes, has no limitations. I could devote my whole address to tragic and amusing anecdotes of individual counseling covering the whole gamut of phases of life mentioned above.

Employment certification. This is now in the hands of the attendance officers, but should be handled by the guidance department if it is equipped with the individual records mentioned above. (Parenthetically our guidance department has not, and I believe accordingly that our certification is in the right hands).

Placement. In industrial communities this is the outstanding feature of the guidance set up. But in Kingston we have felt that the guidance counselor's limited time can be more effectively spent otherwise.

Follow up. A factory which turns out produce with no check up on its serviceability would soon find itself woefully out of date. Has our school system been accustomed to make such a check up? At any rate a guidance program is an up-to-date educational venture and, as far as practical, the results of each guidance effort should be followed up and critically studied both with the object of possibly helping the same person later and of modifying guidance practice in the future.

Research. For a guidance counselor to give good advice he should be equipped with the latest information in employment trends. This means research. A study of apparent success in individuals and evaluating those personal qualities which lead to success or failure, should be made. New and improved instruments for studying the individual must be learned and tried out.

Since the Junior High School has been a current topic of interest to Kingstonians I would like to take a moment to explain the function of guidance in the Junior High School. The Junior High School usually provides an orientation course in the first year explaining the objectives of the Junior High. This is followed by try-out experiences in a great variety of activities. It is usually possible for a child in Junior High to take short sample courses in machine or woodworking, home economics, business subjects, languages in addition to the usual seventh and eighth grade subjects. These experiences, together with counseling and self-analyses make the ninth-grade boy and girl much more able to plan what to take up in Senior High; or what sort of work they are fitted for, if they leave school at the end of their Junior High School career.

In conclusion let us hope that the work of our guidance department in Kingston will be increasingly expanded so that a greater number of future citizens will be better adjusted and happier in their lives.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"He puts air in my tires, water in my radiator, wipes the windshield.

Does the fact that the manufacture of canned dog foods has become a major industry really mean that our canine population has so vastly increased? The more we consider it the certainer we are that there aren't any more dogs than there used to be. But the mistresses of the dogs have fed their families out of a can so long, that now, poor old Fido's gotta live out of a can, too.

I Often Get to Thinking
I often get to thinking of my childhood days and dad
And that good oldtime "knee-action" that he used when I was bad.
For in spite of all those moments when I hurt him worse than me I have always known that underneath he's GRAND as he can be! I often get to thinking of the bills dad had to pay
And the work and sacrifices that were part of every day!
For he never got much credit but he did it with a smile.
And with nothing but our love for him to make it with his while.
I CAN'T forget those memories of things that he did then
And I WON'T forget about him when it's Father's Day again.
But I'll TRY to please him some way, and I hope that he'll be glad, For I often get to thinking, too, how MUCH I THINK OF DAD!

A teacher asked her class the difference between results and consequences. A bright pupil replied: "Results are what you expect; consequences are what you get."

Eve was undoubtedly the unluckiest woman who ever lived—she couldn't tell Adam about all the better men she could have married.

READ IT OR NOT—
No person can write his name twice the same.

Teacher—Can any one tell me the meaning of the word "collision"?
No answer.

Teacher—Well, when two things come together unexpectedly, that is a collision. Now can any one give me an example?
Johnny—Twins.

If you want to get a lot of exercise, just follow a rumor around some day.

A traveling salesman, detained in a certain village over night, was introduced in the town's hotel to a crazy little billiard-table and a set of balls of a uniform, dirty-gray color.

Salesman—But how do you tell the red from the white?
Landlord—Oh, you soon get to know them by their shape.

People are like dogs... A dog runs from you if you run at him, but he runs after you if you run from him.

A Communist agitator rode into the city park, and, after leaning his bicycle against the railing, mounted a soap box and started to address the crowd.

"If your family is hungry," he shouted, "raid a shop and take food for them, and don't care what anybody says. If your wife hasn't got a coat, pick the best fur coat you can see, and ignore the consequences!"

After several more minutes in this strain, he dismounted from his soap box, and his next words were:
"Where's the scoundrel who took my bicycle?"

Half the unhappiness in the world is caused by the failure of plans which were never reasonable and frequently impossible.

Husband—Dear, I don't think I'll be home for dinner tonight!
Wife—No? What will I do?

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Those who, for one reason or another, do not care to mingle with the common herd at the cinema palaces or neighborhood theaters, have fallen into the habit of renting films for private showings in their own homes. Some have their residences fitted up with sound and projection equipment but most rent the entire outfit from films to operators. The practice is not entirely new but Variety reports that within the last two years it has grown into business of considerable proportions. Screen executives started it and others who can pay have fallen into line. Distributors do not care to rent pictures for private showings but there is nothing that they can do about it save jack up the price so that the cost may be as high as $600 a night. Few of the pictures are rented for large parties. Usually the renter and his family are the only ones who see them. Some of the addicts want only pre-views, while others rent pictures which have received rave notices.

Among those listed by Variety as frequently getting pictures for private showing are President Roosevelt, Jock Whitney, Irving Berlin, Eddie Cantor, Tony Sarg, T. Wallace Orr, John Mansville, Mrs. C. V. Whitney, Jules Bach, Walter Chrysler, Adolph Zukor, Harry M. Warner and numerous other film heads—Frank Henderson, Marshall Field, A. C. Blumenthal, Paul Block, John Hartford and the McCormicks of Chicago. Jock Whitney is said to eye virtually every major picture, always getting them long before release. If the fact that the President had ordered a certain picture could be advertised the box-office response would be tremendous. But the Will Hays office refuses to permit such exploitation.

Many old-timers are extremely interested in the comeback of Gus Edwards by means of the radio. Edwards, who fostered the careers of Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, George Price, Groucho Marx, Eddie Buzzell and others, found it rather tough sledding a few years ago. The country scoffed at sentiment and everything smacking of lavender and old lace. Continual whispers that the stocky, gray-haired Gus was no longer in the chips went up and down Broadway and surely must have reached his ears. But Edwards merely smiled and hinted vaguely of annuities soon to become due. Performers, who started under his aegis and who had more dollars than they needed, endeavored to come to his rescue but Edwards declined all offers with thanks. Then came the turn, and recently he went to the West Coast to assail that front. Sixty years old and fighting with the stout-heartedness of youth!

Speaking of entertainers, there are Jack Benny and Jack Pearl. Whenever the two meet, there is a poker game. But when Benny came here from Hollywood, his time was so fully occupied that the usual sessions of the great American game had to be omitted. Recently, Pearl received a check from Benny for $100. A note explained that though there had been no game, Benny felt that he should pay his usual losses just the same.

Holding to the theatrical world, one more paragraph, the matter of cameras comes next. When John Gielgud returned to England, he complained that the candid cameras of theater-goers drove him almost insane. Up to that time nothing had been done about them though they were an annoyance to many theater-goers. Following the Gielgud complaint, however, there was action and candid cameras are now barred from most theaters. But recently a variety house reversed the rule by offering prizes for the best pictures taken in that theater by patrons. It seems that it would be much more to the point if something were done about match lighters.

Conductors Were Warned to Wear Shoes in 1897

Durand, Mich. — Seventeen rules for the instruction of employees and not for the information of the public are listed on Dayton Coal & Iron road time card for 1897, owned by Joseph C. Clancy, car distributor at the Durand Grand Trunk depot. Some of the rules are: All trains will leave on time; no collisions allowed on this road; all trains must stop before running over stock of any kind; drink nothing but cold water while on duty; passenger conductors must wear shoes while on duty, socks not required.

Grave Error Leaves Smugglers Mournful

Marseilles, France. — Customs guards, noticing there were no women among the black-clad mourners following a coffin, halted the procession. They found the coffin was filled with English cigarettes which the "mourners" were attempting to smuggle past the guards.

New Boats Assigned

Berlin, June 17 (AP).—The German admiralty announced today that the cruisers Murnberg and Karlsruhe and the torpedo boats Grief, Kondor and Moewe had been assigned to duty in Spanish waters to relieve a similar contingent of German warships participating in the international non-intervention patrol there.

Rev. Mr. Armstrong Centennial Preacher

The Rev. James N. Armstrong, Jr., pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, is attending the centennial celebration of the Presbyterian Church of New Alexandria, Pa., where he was born and where his father, the Rev. J. Newton Armstrong, D. D., was pastor for 12 years. Various sons of the parish, who are now ministers, will have a part in the anniversary services. Mr. Armstrong preaches to the young people on Sunday afternoon.

Builds New Instrument for Jazz or Church Use

Los Angeles.—A new musical instrument, the symphonet, resembling a small piano which plays on pipes instead of strings, has been introduced here.

It has 55 piano keys which send padded hammers thumping against 55 reed-like metal pipes ranging from 6 to 28 inches in length. The long pipes produce the deep notes, and the short pipes the high section of the scale.

Music of the new instrument is a cross between the xylophone and fast-played chimes. Low notes, with the stops released so that each blow on the pipes vibrates, can be made to resemble the far-off striking of a tower clock.

Tone range of the instrument is about six notes short of a small piano's scale.

Uses ranging from symphony orchestra to jazz are stressed by the inventor, Harry F. Noake, newspaper man. Because it weighs only 150 pounds and cannot get out of tune, he says, several churches are considering its use for foreign missions.

Noake worked two and one-half years developing the instrument, and has applied for a patent. He says the construction cost is less than that of a moderately good upright piano.

Three-Inch Cigar Ash Sets a Dutch Record

Amsterdam.—An unbroken ash, measuring seven centimeters (2.75 inches), on a cigar smoked for two hours, is claimed as a world record by the town of Hertogenbosch.

Fifty-eight men and two women took part in the competition. Most of them failed when they trembled as officials tried to measure the ashes.

The winner, however, had nerves of steel. The ash on his cigar would have been even longer, if he had not sneezed.

Loose Ground

Inquest Postponed In Firemen Deaths

The adjourned date for the coroner's inquest in the deaths of Firemen Peter Carey and Preston DeWitt, who were killed in a crash between a fire engine and a West Shore train at the Broadway crossing on the early morning of May 15, while returning from a fire, has been postponed until June 30, because of the engagement of District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, now engaged in the first degree murder trial of Charles James Brown.

One hearing has been held before Coroner Lester DuBois of New Paltz and an adjournment was taken until June 18 in order to permit Fireman Finkle to attend. At the last hearing he was unable to attend because of his physical condition. It is desired of having him in attendance when Fireman Smith, who was also on the truck and survived the crash, testifies.

The inquest will be called June 30 at 10 o'clock.

HATCHET KILLER SEES WIFE DIE

Setrak Arefkin (left) 50, watched beside the operating table as his wife, Anna, 27, died after accusing him of attacking her with a hatchet. Det. Lieut. Guy Beeson, of Los Angeles, said Arefkin confessed to the crime "because she went out with younger men."

Vanity in the Dog

Vanity is seen in the dog that carefully cleans his paws and his legs whenever he returns to house or kennel on a muddy day. A keen sense of humor is found in countless dogs which tease their masters by hiding small objects and a love of games is inherent in nearly all dogs, but a rather advanced type of intelligence is present in those which continually invent new games and try to teach them to their masters.

G-Man to Address Public on June 20 At Comforter Hall

A public mass meeting will be held under the auspices of the Reformed Church of the Comforter Men's Club on Sunday evening, June 20, in the church hall on Wynkoop Place beginning at 7:30 o'clock, which will feature Rhea Whitley, one of Uncle Sam's G-Men, as the guest speaker.

Rhea Whitley is the special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, New York city field division, and works under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, famed leader of the agents.

Through the efforts of Gordon A. Craig, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Men's Club, the special agent is being brought here so that the public of Kingston may obtain some first hand information on the operations of this department of the United States government which has accomplished a great deal towards ridding this nation of criminals and bringing the wolves of society to justice.

Chairman Craig dispatched a letter direct to J. Edgar Hoover, concerning the possibility of obtaining a Department of Justice agent to address a public meeting, and Director Hoover immediately designated Rhea Whitley as the man for the job, in a letter addressed to Gordon Craig and received two weeks ago.

The subject of the special agent's address will be the "Parade of Crime."

Rhea Whitley is 32 years of age, a graduate of Washington & Lee University with a LL.B. degree, and has been in the service of the Department of Justice since 1927. He has been in charge of field divisions at Charlotte, N. C., Philadelphia, Pa., and New Orleans, La., before being transferred to the New York division where he has been stationed for the last two years. He holds a commission as Lieutenant, U. S. N. R.

Miss Earhart took off from Karachi at 7.25 a. m. Karachi time (8.55 p. m. EST, Wednesday).

The flier, who is making a leisurely flight around the world "just for fun," said she intended to take off shortly after dawn Friday.

She would remain overnight at the air-drome, she said, to superintend adjustments to her twin-motored monoplane.

Miss Earhart said her next destination would be Bangkok, capital of Siam. If she adheres to her planned itinerary, she will go from Bangkok, to Darwin, Australia, by way of Singapore, then Batavia, Dutch East Indies, and Surabaya, Java, before starting across the Pacific.

Buys Rifle, Waits for Thief

New York, June 17 (AP)—Joseph Tuzil, who owns a cleaning and dyeing establishment in upper Manhattan, aroused by an attempt to break into his shop two weeks ago, bought a rifle and two cots. He and his 52-year-old mother began sleeping each night in the rear of the store. At three o'clock this morning Tuzil awakened, saw a man drop into the store from a hole cut through the ceiling from a vacant apartment overhead. He grabbed his rifle and blazed away, then called police. A negro who said he was Bailey Robinson, 22, was found on the floor, shot in the chest and back. After treatment by an ambulance surgeon, he was taken to Bellevue Hospital, charged with burglary.

The first pimiento imported into the United States came from Spain about 1800.

ANTI-TRUST COMPLAINT AGAINST GENERAL MOTORS

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission filed an anti-trust complaint today against General Motors Corporation in regard to the sale of auto parts.

The motor company was ordered to explain alleged "use of intimidation, oppression and coercion to compel dealers handling General Motors cars, against their will, to purchase parts, accessories and supplies for use on cars only from General Motors subsidiaries or affiliates."

The commission contended that such methods restrained competition and tended to create a monopoly. The firm has 20 days to file an answer.

The company was accused of sending parts to dealers who had not ordered them and of threatening the dealers with revocation of their franchises to sell General Motors cars if they did not accept and pay for the parts. The complaint also charged that the company required dealers to promise not to buy parts from competitors.

DECLARE RELIEF A NATIONAL NOT A LOCAL PROBLEM

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Administration leaders in the Senate expressed confidence today that they could defeat a proposal to shift a greater share of relief costs to local communities.

They had predicted earlier in the week that a compromise would result from the Byrnes amendment to make cities and states pay 40 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects.

A dozen Senators who called relief a national and not a local problem, voiced determined opposition to the proposal in yesterday's acrimonious debate. They urged that Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, be given a free hand to fix the amounts of local contributions as at present.

"Woe Is Us" Cry Those Who Try Carnival Games, Allege They're the Goats

The sheriff's office has had a number of visitors so far this week who, according to their statements, had received recently—and paid for—some woe! lessons on the old proposition that it is difficult to "beat a man at his own game".

The visitors complained that they had been in attendance upon the carnival in progress this week near the Airport in the town of Ulster, that they had tried their luck at some of the games and that the outcome of their endeavors had not been all that they had hoped for.

One couple, early in the week, told Night Jailor Ellsworth that they had been very much disappointed in the returns from one game they had tried out. The difficulty, according to their story, was that the red ball showed a very marked tendency to stop elsewhere than in the spot where the customer got a pay-off.

Last night an Elizabeth street man reported that he had played one of the games and instead of coming out ahead, as he had hoped, had quit poorer to the amount of $8. An hour or so later a Saugerties, R. D., man came in with a similar tale of woe. He had been a little more fortunate, however, as he claimed a total loss of only $5.

Deputy Sheriff McCullough went out to the carnival grounds and made an investigation of the complaints.

Shipping, Shipbuilding Hit

New York, June 17 (AP)—Labor issues hit shipping and shipbuilding in the New York area today, closing five of the largest shipyards in the region and threatening to affect more than a dozen vessels sailing out of the Atlantic and Gulf ports. Closing of the shipyards was due to a strike of about 9,000 workers, tying up $30,000,000 worth of construction and repair work. The closed shop was the underlying issue.

THEY STRIKE TOO: Women Back Their Men on Steel Front

WARRIORS

By The AP Feature Service

ON the labor front, women's work is never done. Grim-faced Amazons have marched to the steel strike's battle lines and fought in the bloody melees along with their men folk. (The picture at the left was snapped at Monroe, Mich.)

But, as always, women's most important work is behind the lines, as shown in the pictures below. At Indiana Harbor, Ind., daughters of Inland Steel strikers formed a picket line of their own. In Warren, Ohio, and other steel towns, women prepared food and served it to men on the picket lines. At Campbell, Ohio, wives and sweethearts organized a street dance to cheer Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. strikers.

At Monroe, Mich., women gave first aid to strikers injured in a clash with special police at the Newton Steel plant and at Warren, a girl member of the strike committee helped organize the campaign.

No Kimball Divorce.

New York, June 17 (AP)—Joseph Kimball, Yonkers, N. Y., real estate operator, failed today for the third time within a year to obtain a divorce from Mrs. Gladys Kimball, actress with the Federal Theatre project. Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenbaum opened the jury's sealed verdict this morning to discover the jurors after nearly six hours' deliberation had been unable to reach a unanimous conclusion that Mrs. Kimball was guilty of misconduct at a West 47th street hotel on June 28, 1936.

Jonas Wertman, 83, a Pennsylvania farmer, has seen only one movie. He saw his last stage show 61 years ago.

Seek Extortionists.

Seattle, June 17 (AP)—Federal agents and sheriff's deputies today sought extortionists who made three telephone calls threatening to abduct one of the three children of P. T. Lee, Seattle stage line executive, unless $5,000 was paid.

Score of Witnesses In Tiernan Trial

Riverhead, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—More than a score of witnesses were brought into Suffolk county Supreme Court to testify in the state's fast-moving case against Mrs. Helen Tiernan, young blonde widow accused of murdering her seven-year-old daughter.

Fourteen witnesses were called in rapid succession yesterday by District Attorney L. Barron Hill to support his contention the young New York mother killed her little girl and tried to kill her four-year-old son Jimmy in a Long Island thicket last month to get them "out of the way" so she could marry George Christodoulus, Manhattan restaurant worker. "We will show how her two children did not fit into the defendant's way of living," Hill told the court in his opening address, while Mrs. Tiernan herself remained complacent in her chair. Her only sign of interest was during the brief appearance on the stand of Christodoulus, who is held in high bail as a material witness.

In an atmosphere charged with tense drama, he testified without once looking at Mrs. Tiernan. He told the court and jury that he identified little Helen's mangled body as it lay in an undertaking parlor. A young high school couple told how they came up on the charred and hacked body in the woods and notified police; medical experts testified in grisly detail the condition of the remains of the little girl and the probable causes of death.

In either case, Ivanhoe—rich and creamy, golden with stored-up sunshine—will make it a captivating flavor-treat.

Yet this finer mayonnaise actually saves you money! Ivanhoe contains twice as many egg yolks as ordinary mayonnaise. That's why Ivanhoe is so much more golden in color, so thick in consistency, so much richer in flavor—and why you can use less Ivanhoe without sacrificing flavor or fascinating appearance of your salads.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Deanna Durbin is a sweet child and a sweet singer but she doesn't know yet all there is to know about acting. So Henry Kostner tells her, like a variety cheerleader.

Kostner, whose pleased and pleasant expression might be there even if his "Three Smart Girls" hadn't been a surprise hit, is a young man who puts his soul into his work. He's making "100 Men and a Girl," and it's the most amusing set in Hollywood today.

Enter The "Angel"

The set represents an enormous garage turned into an impromptu rehearsal hall by Adolphe Menjou and his 110 musical recruits to symphony. Menjou plays the trombone and sponsors Deanna. The hopes of all, including Mischa Auer as a musician, are set on so impressing wealthy Eugene Pallette that he'll play angel and take over the orchestra. Pallette admits they're good but folds up his wings. He'll take over, he says, only on condition they get Leopold Stokowski to conduct. (This being a movie, and Universal having arranged all that months ago, you don't need to worry about the outcome.)

But this particular scene is the build-up to the angel's ultimatum: the entrance of Pallette. Menjou and Deanna and the musicians—real ones selected for type—are all overjoyed in their welcome. They play "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and Menjou blares and flourishes on the trombone while Deanna urges more pep.

Pleads On His Knees

But it's Kostner who has the pep. He "conducts" the orchestra, keeps time with feet and arms and body, which all seem to wave and gyrate with excitement and enthusiasm. He calls for take after take, between whistles coaching Deanna, who seems too poised, in the art of showing real excitement. He speaks not in a roar but gently, demonstrates what he means by getting down on his knees and pleading. His idea gets over. The last take is good.

Herbert Mundin used to work for a theatrical manager who chose play titles deliberately to bait critical wisecracks. He liked especially a piece called "Yes" because the critics could say "No." (They did.)

ALBANIA STEPS ON IT; TURNS MODERN

Law Forbids Moslem Women to Wear Their Veils.

Washington, D. C.—Veils are "out" in Albania, according to the National Geographic society. No longer will Albanian women in long, dark coats or bunched red trousers peer at the world from behind filmy headgear. The Albanian parliament recently passed a law forbidding the country's Moslem women to veil their faces. This decree will chiefly change the fashions of older women, since most of the young ones have already come out in the open.

"At the nearest point, Albania is only about fifty miles away from Italy across the Adriatic, yet until recently this rugged mountain country on the west coast of the Balkan peninsula has remained more oriental than occidental. It was under Turkish influence from 1479 to 1912. In 1930, some 688,000 of its more than a million inhabitants were Moslems. Not until 1928-1929, when the new Albanian penal and civil codes superseded Ottoman laws, was polygamy legally abolished.

"Under Turkish rule, Albania was kept backward. About its only industry was rug-weaving. Since teaching in the Albanian language was forbidden, education remained stagnant. Today, Albania has 581 state-supported primary schools, 14 secondary schools, and 278 of its citizens studying in foreign universities.

War Starts Change.

"Until the World war, Albania's interior remained isolated, barbaric, chiefly accessible only by horseback. Then suddenly the situation was changed by road construction and the arrival of motor transport. Albanian citizens were given a hand in this transformation, for each plain-dweller was made responsible for taking care of a twenty-foot section of road. By the end of 1933 the country possessed 1,118 miles of motor roads. In mountainous regions, where the roads were continuously interrupted by mountain torrents, bridges were built. The 360 bridges in existence in 1921 were increased to 2,874 by March, 1933.

"A decade ago it took a traveler on horseback at least eleven hours to make the approximately thirty-mile trip from Tirana (Tirane) across the mountains to the great plain of Elbasan. Today the same trip can be made by automobile in less than an hour and a half by a road opened in 1933 which winds in hairpin curves up the steep slopes, crossing many bridges and Kraba pass, 2,625 feet above sea level.

"Motor transport is rapidly being adopted. Taxis fit through the streets of Tirana, the army has a section of armored cars, and, although donkeys and pack ponies are still used extensively in the mountainous districts, automobiles are becoming a common sight on the plains.

American Influence.

"Much of the modernization of Albania is due to returned American immigrants. In 1931 there were 30,000 Albanians working in the New England and Middle Western states. On returning to their native land, those who had wealth erected in Tirana and elsewhere, modern homes equipped with electricity, steam heat, telephones, and modern plumbing. They approve of their country's new national bank, fifty-five post and telegraph offices, and excellent air service established in 1925. Their sons play football, and their daughters attend movies and in shops demand lingerie like that of popular American movie stars.

"Although Albania has an area of about 10,629 square miles, much of this is covered with rugged mountains, forested or barren, and some more than 6,000 feet high. Only about a thousand square miles are cultivated and these primitively. Draining of Lake Malik in the southeastern part of the country reclaimed thousands of acres of farmland.

"One of the chief crops is tobacco. Since Albanians are inveterate smokers, one of the first pieces of apparatus introduced to start Albania's 'machine age' was a machine that made cigarettes.

"Important also among the crops are corn and olives. In former years only the olives were exported and olive oil had to be imported. Two oil refineries were established in 1930 and the next year olive oil was exported. Cotton, the growing of which was begun during the war, is raised for domestic use. Between 1933 and 1935, orchardists received approximately 200,000 free fruit trees from the Albanian government.

"Most of the country dwellers who are not farming are raising live stock. On the plains roam cattle, sheep, and goats. These furnish wool, hides and dairy products. Cattle, cheese, and hides are exported."

Queen Bees Registered

Santa Cruz, Calif.—Being a queen bee in California is little better than being a crook elsewhere. In California queen bees have to be registered. Santa Cruz county figures it has about 500 queen bees each with a return of $5,000 bees, but each will be registered on the dotted line just the same.

Softball Is Proving Popular Sport Here

Softball is fast becoming one of the most popular sports in Kingston, both from the standpoint of the number participating and those who come to watch. At present there are close to a thousand men playing softball in Kingston on an average of about twice a week.

This group includes men playing on the 12 teams in the Church League, the 14 teams in the leagues of the Kingston Softball Association, as well as those men who play on the many teams in the city independent of any leagues.

An indication of the popularity of this sport is the number of games registered each day with the department of recreation. Registrations show that at least 10 or 12 games are in progress on the various local softball diamonds every night in the week.

The demand for playing fields has become so great that it was necessary to reconstruct the old diamond at the top of the hill in Hasbrouck Park. When this diamond is completed at the end of the week, there will be facilities for two games each evening in this playground.

Plans are under way for the formation of women's softball leagues here in Kingston, under slightly modified rules.

Bleachers have been erected at the various softball fields in the city and spectators are welcome at any of the games.

Blacks From Egypt

That the blacks of Australia came from Egypt has been confirmed by a mass of evidence, according to a member of the Anthropological Society of New South Wales. The original carvings at Devil's Rock, Wollombi, New South Wales, are especially significant. The totems, symbols and ideographs show that the ancestors of original Australians migrated, probably from Egypt, in the late Paleolithic and the Neolithic ages. One striking ideograph, the Muron, has been preserved by the blacks for 100,000 years.

The greatest baseball attraction of the season will be presented at the Pan Am field this evening when the Kingston Colonials oppose the famous Cuban Stars of Havana. Starting time of the game is 6:15.

During the past three seasons the Cubans recorded 120 victories in the United States, and hold the distinction of trouncing the New York Giants in pre season exhibitions at Havana.

Unless the Colonials play head up ball, they are due for a severe lacing, says Manager Fred Davi, who has been urging his men to be in the "pink" of condition and ready to show their best brand of ball. "Our hitters better be ready to face the toughest crew of hurriers they've slugged against so far," he opined, "because that bunch of Cuban flingers have the goods."

The Islanders have a four-man pitching staff composed of Mahuel Gimenez, Miguel Maldonado, Carlos Ortiz Pedro Diaz, Gimenez is known as the "Iron Man" of Cuban baseball.

Choice of the Colonial moundsters for tonight's game will be Joe Brown, young speedball ace. Brown has hurried brilliant ball for the Kingston club in his two starts on the hill, his latest accomplishment being a win over the highly touted Philmonts at that place last week.

Supporting Brown, the Colonials will use their regulars, Carl Husta, Francello or Turk, Burgevin and C. Tiano in the infield, M. Tiano, Lay and Maines in the outer garden and Joe Hoffman behind the plate.

FIRST PRESBYTERIANS AGAINST HURLEY TEAM

The softball team of the First Presbyterian Men's Club will meet the Hurley Men's Club at Loughran Park this evening at 6:30.

Yellow Sacred Color

The Chinese use yellow as a royal or sacred color, says a noted colorist. But to us it indicates quarantine. We even associate it with crookedness and cowardice. On the other hand, yellow arouses cheerfulness and warmth and is the symbol of light.

CALIFORNIA'S HOPES

Romano Out to Avenge Beating He Took from Severino, Friday

Danny Romano, Beacon's first string amateur featherweight boxer, hopes to win his bout at the municipal auditorium, Friday night, and thus avenge the shattering he received from Mario Severino, Schenectady schoolboy, several weeks ago.

Frankie Romano, who used to be one of the best featherweights in the Hudson valley, said of the match, "My brother should be able to whip Severino, and I'm going to see that he's in the right condition and boxing the right way when they meet Friday."

Frankie crouched in Danny's corner when he lost his other scrap to the Babyface Pride of the Adirondack A. A. U. He was frantic, motioning for the younger Romano to stick out his left and keep Mario from crashing through, but Danny, a slugger by nature, waded right in. Slugging it out with Severino is disastrous for any of the simon pure featherweights. This little Iron Man can stand up under a heavy barrage, then let go with one of his own, showering dynamic rights and lefts all over his opponent.

"I fought him wrong," opined Danny Romano after their last exhibition, "but I won't make that mistake if I get another chance."

Friday Danny gets his other chance, but whether he'll be able to reverse the decision on the boxer the feminine fans call "the cutest little fellow" remains to be seen.

The curly headed Severino, a mere schoolboy, is the idol of the lady patrons, who have to go five rounds with him in the roped arena. Another young amateur who hopes to settle matters with Severino, at a later date, is on Friday's card, K. Chapple. He has an unbalanced score with the Schenectady boy, but won't be bothered about it, for his work is done in one of the first rounds with Joey Turk, who stopped him more than a month ago.

Chapple claims that victory over Turk was a fluke, and that he's got even. Turk insists that he's lost. Both are anxious. So important is the fight to Chapple that he has arranged to get a day of rest from his job in the Cornell street & P. store previous to the actual Turk, brown as a berry, from outdoor work on the WPA, says he's strong and ready to slug it out to the finish.

Buddy Emerson, former Nightweight star, who boxed Lou Ambert present pro champ, when the American Legion ran bouts here, will try a comeback against Port Ewen, Newburgh, the boy who bowed to Mario Severino last week, but claimed he had to take off too much weight and was weak.

Gama went 125 for Severino, but says he'll never try boxing under the lightweight mark again. Pete Gama Emerson should be easy because of his long layoff. Buddy contends he's as good as ever and ready to chalk up a win.

The fourth five rounder will bring together Sammy Travatello, 118, Poughkeepsie, and Johnny Pomato, 119, Schenectady, in a return scrap.

The preliminaries, three rounds each, are: Irv Van Kleeck, 125, Kingston; Charlie Moslowski, 127, Newburgh; Joe Tantillo, 128, Highland; Joe Simons, 129, Schenectady; Kid Burns, 142, Kingston; vs. Jimmy Thomas, 144, Albany. Reserved seats are on sale at the municipal auditorium.

Church Softball League Starts Second Round Monday, June 21

With only a few postponed games remaining in the first half, the Church Softball League will get under way in the second round contests on Monday evening, June 21.

The two battles inaugurating the second half schedule will bring together the Comforters and the Trinity Lutherans at Forsyth Park, and the Fair Street Reformed and Clinton Avenue Seniors at Roosevelt Field.

At the present time no definite winner can be picked for first half honors because several games scheduled for other nights were postponed and have not yet been played. The plans of the Federation of Men's Clubs, sponsors of the Church League, call for the winners of the first half to meet the winners of the second half in a three-game playoff for the championship, which will mean that percentages will begin anew with the second half games and teams now far down in the list will have an opportunity to climb back among the leaders.

Managers and players should clip this schedule so that they will have a record of just when and where their respective team is supposed to play. Forsyth Park is known as Field No. 1, and Roosevelt diamond is designated Field No. 2.

Ash Is Only Green Wood That Will Burn in Grate

Logs do not always save the coal bill. Some have to have coals to make them burn, and a coal-and-log fire is not economical. All kinds of logs will burn brightly if they can be stored in a shed indefinitely, according to the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian. Ash is really the only wood that will burn when it is green. Birch and hawthorn make a poor second, with holly and beech taking third place.

Birch, pine, larch, and oak make excellent fires when dry, and beech does too, but beech produces an inflammable soot that may set the chimney on fire if it is used continuously. Elm and sycamore are not so good, but they are better than poplar, lime, fir, and chestnut, which are poor.

Cedar and cypress burn with a delightful fragrance. Yew makes a good blaze and approaches most to coal in density, but it must not be left unattended, as it sparks dangerously. Old orchard trees make good firewood and have a pleasant smell, but they must be well dried. Birch combines good combustion with a pleasant scent, as do in a lesser degree pine and larch logs when dry and resinous. Laburnum and laurel trimmings from the garden make good fires.

Large grates are the best log burners. It is a mistake to use the poker with the idea of urging on a slow-burning fire, for a new surface has to be heated through before there is a flame. Instead of a poker, coax the smoldering fire to a blaze with a pair of bellows.

History of Roast Pig Is Traced to Burning House

Charles Lamb's humorous essay called "A Dissertation Upon Roast Pig" refers to a Chinese manuscript read to him by his friend Mr. R. gives an account of the fire in the swineherd Ho-ti's cottage, the result of his son Bo-bo's carelessness. That Lamb never intended this story to be taken for the truth, observes a writer in the Detroit News, is shown in the following paragraph of his essay:

"Without placing too implicit faith in the account above given, it must be agreed that if a worthy pretext for so dangerous an experiment as setting houses on fire (especially in these days) could be assigned in favor of any culinary object, that pretext and excuse might be found in Roast Pig."

Mason's "Origins of Inventions" says: "Just how it first occurred to the primitive folk that cooked meat would last longer and digest more quickly than raw meat is unknown. The ever-ready guesser will say that a lucky accident was the teacher, but lucky accidents give no lessons to those who are not already alert. The only truth that can be arrived at is in the study of the cookery of modern savages. The most abject peoples in the world cook their food, the only exceptions at all worthy of mention being the Eskimos."

Gross capital expenditures in 1936 for locomotives and freight and passenger cars totaled $159,104,000 compared with $79,355,000 in the preceding year.

CITY SOFTBALL SCORES

The Telcos registered their fourth consecutive victory Wednesday evening at the armory diamond by outscoring the Hercules 10-6. Previous to this setback, the Powdermen had run up a string of nine wins in a row.

Two big innings, the fifth and sixth, gave the Telcos their laurels. In the fifth Pieper hit a triple with three men on the bases, and in the sixth Eymann belted a homer with the sacks loaded. Three other runs were made in the sixth by the Wire-winders.

Previous to their rally near the end of the tilt, the Telcos went scoreless. Hercules chalked up two in the first and a like number in the second inning, and two more in the fifth.

Batteries were Hankinson and Henry for the Telcos, and Every and Kennedy for the Hercules.

The Keystone Unions edged out the Clermont No. 2 brigade Wednesday at the Fair Grounds. Paul Joyce was the winning pitcher. Boyce his opponent. Score by innings.

Game Comment

Don Hyatt hurled the Clinton Avenue team to a 9-8 triumph over the Port Ewen representatives Wednesday evening, but had to be relieved by Ferris Williams in the last inning when a home run by Ferguson with one aboard, brought the Port Eweners to within one run of tying the score. Going into the fifth inning, Martin Nihan, Port Ewen hurler, was holding his own with a 4-3 lead, but the Methodists jumped on him for six runs, including a homer by Chet Baltz, and decided the issue which also gave them a firm hold on second place in the league standings. The game was rather spotted with errors on both sides, several of the runs being unearned.

Harold Clayton and Johnny Houghtaling hooked up in a pitcher's duel in the Fair Street-Redeemer battle which finally went to the upturners by a 6-2 score. This game was well played and the score was 1-0 favoring the Fair Street swingers, going into the fifth inning Clayton cracked a home run with one on base to help his own cause. This win entrenched the Fair Street team most securely in first place with one important game, that with the Comforters, remaining to be played.

According to Captain Ten Eyck, his Hurley boys tried some experiments in their game with the St. Remy cellar dwellers, with the result that they were soundly trounced by the score of 16-5. Bill Hardenburgh made an appearance on the mound for the Hurleyites, and was thoroughly pounded as his reward.

CHAMP TRIES "INJUN RASSLIN"

Jim a Poor Champ, Jim and Joe Will Draw Fortunes

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—The "Prince and Pauper" world's title battle set for next Tuesday night has the betting boys jittery.

Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock will step into the ring against Joe Louis as one of the financially poorest boxing kings in history. From a financial standpoint, the Brown Bomber has a better claim to that title. Louis, who has earned more than $750,000 in three years, will climb through the ropes one of the wealthiest challengers of all time.

Braddock never has been in the "big money", ever since beating Max Baer for the title a chore for which he received but $31,244. Since then he has had to borrow money, so Tuesday night will be his big chance.

To date, there has been little or no wagering. One Randolph St. Commissioner is holding $10,000 he'll put against $5,000 that Louis wins—and no sign yet of a taker. There are Braddock betters asking as much as 3 and 4 to 1 odds, but the impression prevails that the night of the bout Louis will stand about 9 to 5.

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—Only a few years ago heavyweight champion Jim Braddock was on the federal relief rolls and Joe Louis was a $6 a day automobile factory hand in Detroit, but next Tuesday night they'll each draw fortunes for their title bout and its anticipated million-dollar "gate."

Ten years ago Braddock, who has been guaranteed 50 per cent of receipts, got his big break by beating Max Baer for the title. Three years ago this month Louis borrowed $15 to go to Detroit for an amateur bout and a month later fought his first professional fight for $50.

Since that time Louis has earned $750,007, probably a record, considering his brief career. His biggest stake was $240,533 for stopping Baer in 1935. His guarantee against Braddock is 17 1/2 per cent of the gate.

Introduction of Seven Coaches In Poughkeepsie for Regatta

COACHES HD

New York, June 17 (AP)—Most of the glamour and glory of the Poughkeepsie regatta goes to the oarsmen. Many non-combatants forget the men behind the boats, the coaches who must be father, mother and general confidante for squads of trigger-tempered athletes. There are seven varsity coaches encamped at Poughkeepsie, this year.

Here they are

Alvin Ulrickson, Washington. A genial giant—Al is the present dean of Washington's "School for Crew Coaches"—if history repeats some of the oarsmen now rowing for him will be competing as coaches against Al's eight in the future—his three crews swept the Hudson last year—Al won't bet they'll do it again this year—He learned crew technique under Rusty Callow—stroked the victorious husky varsity on the Hudson in 1928—likes fishing and his home state of Washington.

Charles S. (Buck) Walsh, Navy. A southern gentleman, sub. with a yen to own the best farm in Virginia and grow the best tobacco in the world—rowed for Annapolis in '23 and has been head coach since 1932—send his oarsmen for "walks" along the course in the spring sprint races and does the same at Poughkeepsie if they get lazy—at present he's fighting over-confidence bred in his middles by an unbeaten sprint season—likes tweed suits and visits with other coaches.

Hugh Glendon, Columbia. Youngest of famous rowing family, his dad "Old Dick" Glendon, dills the Lion freshman knows rowing in all its phases and has a vast interest in all athletics, believes in a long training session at Poughkeepsie in the interest of "ner" year's crews as well as this year's, his favorite expression "Well be up in the ball game."

Carroll M. (Ky) Ehrlich, California. Looks like a mathematician professor used to be a crowswain at Washington—has coached two Olympic winners and four Poughkeepsie varsity champions. Ky has been head man at California since 1927, will talk on anything but crew looks after his oarsmen 24 hours a day seldom gets angry in the coaching lurch.

James A. Ten Eyck, Syracuse. The old man, last of the old school of professional oarsmen, son Jim coaches at Princeton, won a hug on water conditions and weather stated rowing in 1864. Syracuse alumni recently blew him to a new bungalow, prefaces his remarks to oarsmen with traditional "Well, now, boys," he's 86 you can't fool him.

Harrison Sanford, Cornell. New to Poughkeepsie as a coach but not as an oarsman rowed in Washington boat with Ulrickson in 1926. Took Jim Wray a place as head coach at Cornell. His assistant, Norman Sonju, is also new to coaching but likewise is an ex-husky oarsman. His crew is as good as any for the east's dark horse.

Ralph Hunn, Wisconsin. Brings the Badgers east for the first time in over a decade. Was a cox for Wisconsin in '29, '30 and '31 under Mike Murphy, another Washington alumnus. Whips around the Hudson in a $6,200 coaching launch. Doesn't expect too much from his crew, says he, "This is just the start" and promises bigger and better boats in the future.

BETTY BOTTERILL PLAYS SENSATIONAL GOLF

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—Betty Botterill, a persistent young woman from Salt Lake City, is giving the 1937 open tournament field something to think about.

The slender westerner just managed to qualify with a 92 Monday, but on Tuesday appeared to be headed places when she eliminated Rena Nelson, 6 and 3, in the opening round of match play. Yesterday, however, it looked as though she was headed for the sidelines again when she trailed Goldie Bateson, who led her by three holes with five to go.

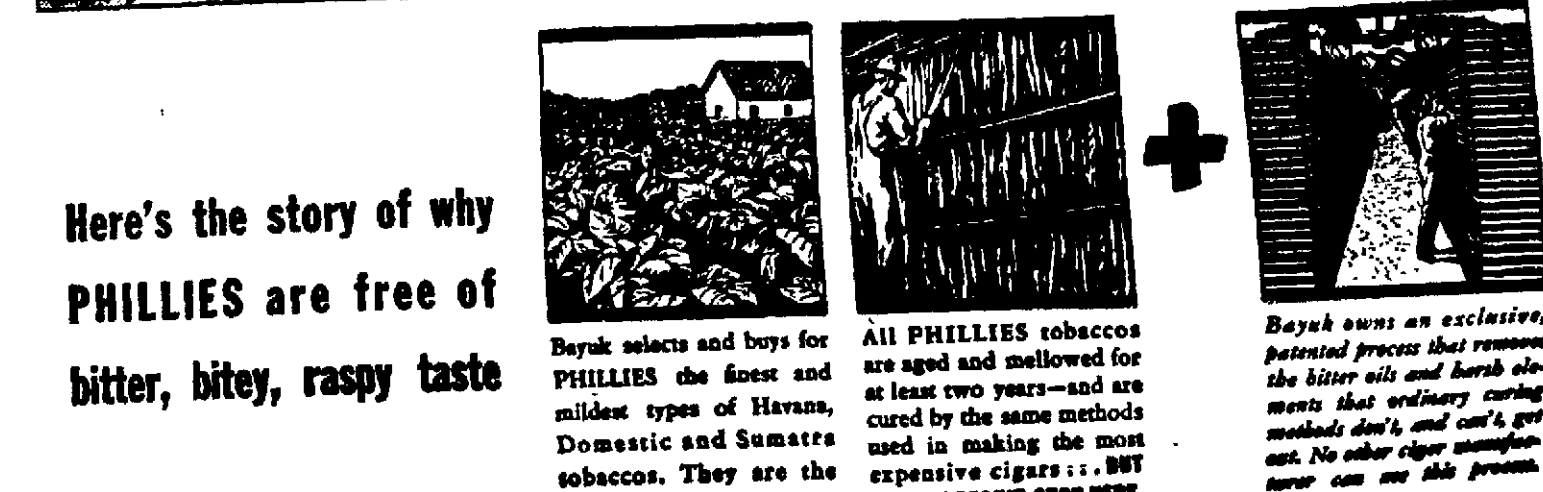

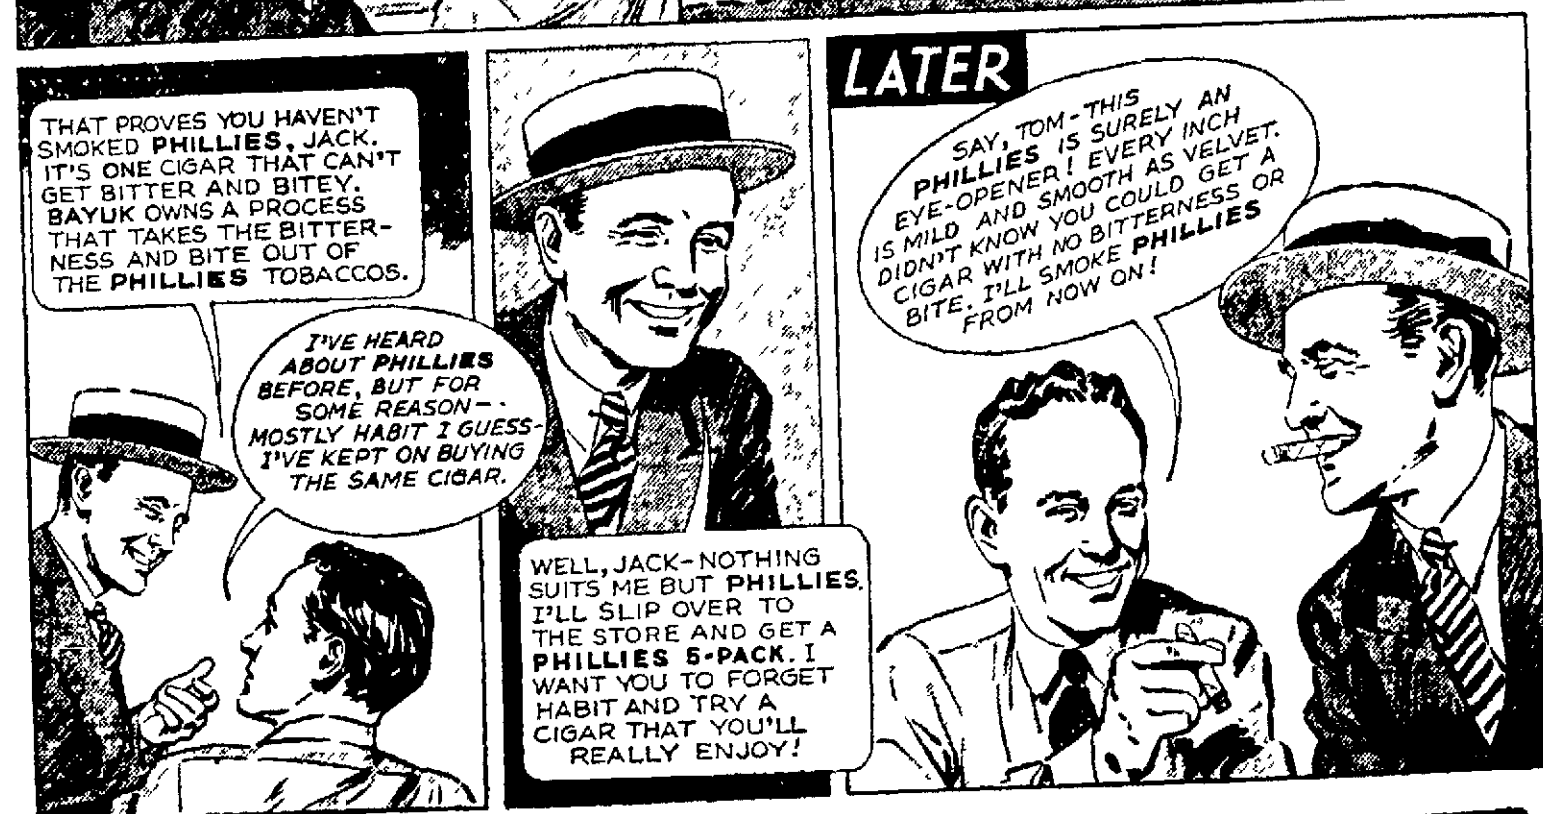

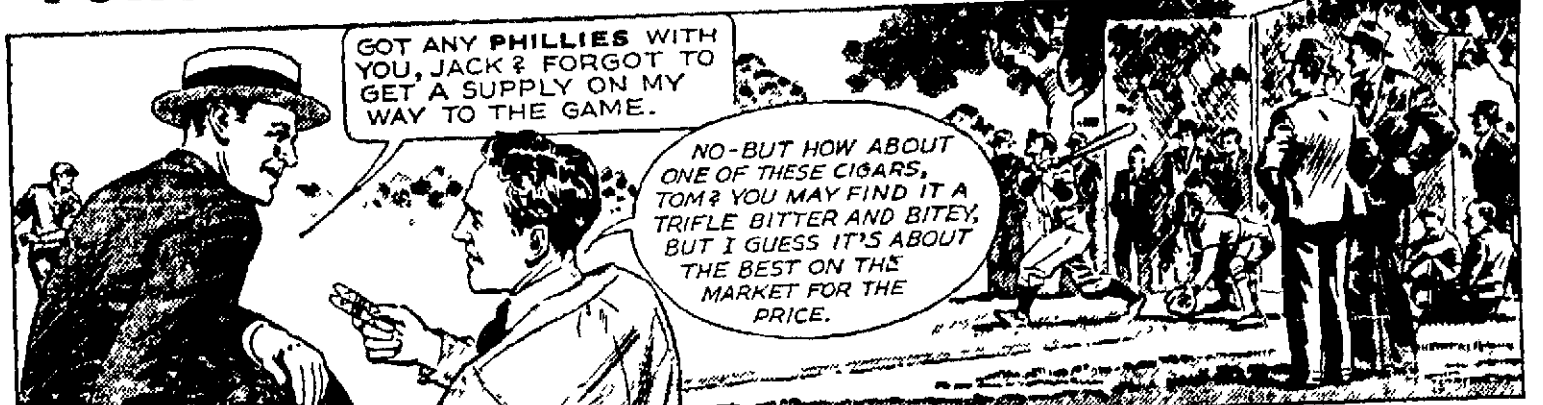

Miss Botterill hauled herself together at that point. Shooting a birdie to trim the margin by one stroke, then halved the next three. Still two down, she won the 17th and squared the match with a birdie five on the 573-yard 18th, and went on to win on the third extra hole.

Her opponent today was Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, the former Lucile Robinson of Des Moines, Iowa, who defeated Eva Shorb of Manhattan, one up.

The "business women" delegation, Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. J. and Babe Dicks of Beaumont, Tex., also were still very much in the struggle for places in Saturday's 36-hole final. Miss Hicks smothered Virginia Lindblad of Joliet, Ill., 7 and 6, while the Babe eliminated one of the tournament standouts, Mrs. Charles Denny of Chicago, 4 and 3.

John T. Maple, 73, retired rural mail carrier of Carrollton, O., traveled more than 175,000 miles (seven times around the world) without having ventured more than a dozen miles from home.

Jury in Drunken Driving Case Is Not Able to Agree

The action against James Scully of Hurley, charged with driving while intoxicated, came to trial before Justice Walter Webber and a jury, at Lake Katrine Wednesday night. It was the fourth appearance in the case, which is still unsettled, as the jury after deliberating for over an hour was unable to agree on a verdict.

The charge against Scully followed an accident near the Winchell gas station on the Hurley road, Saturday night, May 22, in which three cars were involved. Besides H. A. Ireland, driver of one of the other cars and the complainant in the action, his wife, who was injured at the time, D'Roy Van Etten of Kerhonkson, driver of the third car involved, and Minnie Brooks, witnesses for the prosecution included Dr. Harry P. Van Wageningen and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg, Winne and Reynolds. Dr. Van Wageningen testified as to the result of an examination he made of Scully following his arrest.

Scully appeared on the stand in his own defense and was supported as a defense witness by Frank Quadagno, proprietor of the Hurley hotel.

Frank Campochiaro represented the district attorney's office in presenting the case for the People. Francis T. Murray appeared for Scully.

The trial was started shortly after 7 o'clock and the case went to the jury about midnight. After deliberating for an hour or so the jury came in and reported that they were unable to agree on a verdict. Justice Webber sent them back to try again, but when they returned later and reported no progress he discharged the jury and set the case down for another trial on Tuesday afternoon, June 22, at 3 o'clock.

The jury, which reported to have stood four to two for a verdict, was composed of Roy Bogert, George Shank, Samuel Astolos, William Lender, Ernest Decker and Matthew France.

Snakes In The Grass Don't Scare This Boy

1—Hook The Snake And Toss It Into Open

2—Wait For An Opening

4—Grab It

4—Pick It Up

By The (A) Feature Service
Silver Springs, Fla. (A)—From that "dead pan" Ross Allen wears in action, you'd think snake hunting was the safest, dullest business in the world.

A harmless little garter snake is enough to give most anyone the heebie jeebies. But Allen, armed with only a hooked stick, displays no emotion at catching black diamond rattlers for the Florida reptile institute here. And he wears only the lightest of clothes.

Thrusting his stick into the bushes he hooks a writhing reptile and throws it out into the open where handling is a little less precarious. Then while one hand grabs it mid-riffs to control its squirming, the other hand gets the snake by the head.

Looks simple.
